

LEGION TO ASK MORE LAND FOR CEMETERY HERE

Members of the Albert J. Lentz Post No. 202, American Legion, at a special meeting held Monday night in the court room at the court house, voted unanimously to send a committee to Washington "to insist upon proper arrangements for the burial of deceased veterans," and called upon other patriotic and civic organizations to take similar action.

The meeting was called following the announcement last week by Park Service and National Cemetery officials that the National Cemetery here does not have room for the reinterment of World War II dead now buried overseas, without the removal of the trees and shrubbery in the cemetery.

Paced with the closing to all but a few more burials here, Legionnaires put forth several suggestions for the acquisition of additional land, contiguous to the present cemetery or adjacent to it to assure a last resting place for the veterans of all wars who desired to be buried here.

Swope Named Chairman
Commander Edward A. Culp, who presided, named Attorney Donald M. Swope as chairman of the committee authorized to go to Washington. Mr. Swope was given the authority to choose other members of his committee.

The following resolution was presented and read by Paul Rohrbaugh, Legion service officer:

"Resolved, that a committee of Albert J. Lentz Post No. 202, American Legion, be appointed to proceed immediately to Washington to insist upon proper arrangements for the burial of deceased veterans, and

"Be it further resolved, that other patriotic and civic organizations be urged to take similar action."

After considerable discussion of where and how additional land could be acquired for the cemetery, the resolution was seconded by Wilbur A. Geiselman, past commander and present district deputy commander, and adopted.

Alvin Baker, superintendent of the National Cemetery, said that he and Dr. J. Walter Coleman, superintendent of the Gettysburg National Park, were notified on August 19 that out of 27,000 questionnaires sent to relatives of veterans buried overseas, 288 had requested that these bodies be brought back to this country and interred at Gettysburg. Some of these bodies will begin arriving in October, he said.

Expect 2,880 Burials
Mr. Baker said the number of questionnaires represents only ten per cent of soldiers buried on foreign soil. At this rate, he said, the number requesting burial here would approximate 2,880.

"There is only space remaining in the Gettysburg National cemetery for 110 more graves, without cutting down the trees," Mr. Baker said.

The figure of 2,880 does not include the veterans of the Spanish-American war or World War I still alive who may want to be buried here.

William Timmins suggested that land on Cemetery Hill, a section south of the Lincoln speech memorial, or adjacent to the Taneytown road, between Hancock avenue and the Meade headquarters might be used for a cemetery, but Mr. Baker said it may take an act of Congress to open additional territory, and he pointed out that Congress does not meet until January.

Ten members of the Gettysburg Lions club were presented with chevrons for length of membership at the regular meeting of the club Monday evening at the Peace Light Inn.

President Mahlon P. Hartzell, Sr., made the presentations with Fred S. Faber and Howard Armor receiving 20-year charter member chevrons; Orville B. Orner receiving a ten-year charter member chevron; Dr. Lloyd C. Keefeauver, Guile W. Lefever and Dr. R. D. Wickerham receiving 20-year monarch chevrons and Glenn L. Bream, Donald P. McPherson, Fred G. Pfeiffer, Milton R. Remmel and John S. Rice receiving ten-year monarch chevrons.

GREENSTONE SCHOOL WILL BE ABANDONED

Another county one-room school was closed Monday night at a meeting of the Hamiltonban township school board at the home of its secretary J. Warren Martin.

Greenstone school will be closed and the students transported to Fairfield, the board decided, pending approval of the Fairfield board. If Fairfield accepts the pupils it will add 24 more students to its elementary center.

After deciding to close the school, the board arranged for two buses operated by LeRoy Sheads, to transport the students from the Greenstone area.

One bus will travel by way of the "Furnace" past Greenstone to Earl Carson's picking up elementary and high school students en route.

Exchange Pupils
The other bus will start from Fairfield and travel by way of Zora to Earl Carson's picking up elementary and high school students. At Carson's an exchange will be made. All high school students will board the bus which started from Fairfield and they will be taken to Washington township.

All of the elementary students will board the other bus to go to Hamiltonban township consolidated where the elementary students from the Fountaine area will be deposited. The Greenstone students will then be transported to Fairfield.

SUBMIT SCHOOL SUGGESTION TO COUNTY VOTERS

Adams county will vote next year on how it wants its school system developed.

This was revealed Monday evening by Dr. Robert A. Bream, assistant county superintendent of schools in a report to the County School board during its August meeting at the county superintendent's office at the court house.

A new law, passed at the recent session of Legislature, requires all county boards to develop a plan for regrouping the districts into larger areas and requires that the plan be submitted to the voters, Doctor Bream said.

Reorganization into larger school areas is to be worked out by the county board or by a committee appointed by the board and working in conjunction with it, Bream added.

The next step will be to present the plan to the voters at a regular voting time. If the voters approve it will become the master plan toward which county educators will be expected to work. If the public rejects the plan the county board must begin its work all over again and present another suggestion until some plan is accepted.

Suggested Plan
Doctor Bream suggested that the plan be presented to the voters provide for regrouping school districts by natural centers with the ultimate idea of "merging the mergers" to form a county-wide school district. "We can provide just so much in the way of supervision and better instruction when the county is divided into 32 districts. The smaller districts are joining so that they will have the money and facilities to provide better education for the youngsters. The next logical step is one district in the county, which would be large enough to provide better education more economically."

Marsy C. Little, superintendent of the Waynesboro schools and former assistant county superintendent here and Doctor Bream were suggested by board members as consultants in working out the county plan.

PUBLIC SCHOOL NURSE SERVICE WILL CONTINUE

Adams county is one of the "three or four" counties in the state to provide nursing service for all of its school pupils. Dr. Robert A. Bream said Monday night in presenting a ten-year charter member chevron to the county board of school directors a report on the nursing fund collected last year and a proposal for continuation of the service this year.

Four nurses were named to carry on the work in the public schools this year. The board expressed regret that the full service cannot be continued in the Catholic schools for another year.

A demonstration of nursing service was held last year with the money raised by volunteer donations from a number of organizations and as a result the service could be extended to all youngsters, the board said. The board promised that since the service last year was a demonstration no request would be made for funds this year.

Get State Aid
The state has agreed to reimburse one nurse for every 1,500 pupils starting this year. However, state funds will not be extended to provide year round nursing service to the Catholic schools, the board said, and as a result only physical examinations will be carried out in the Parochial schools this year.

With the nurses' fund balance at $692.02 county board suggested that the amount be used toward helping to pay for the employment of a nurse for the Catholic schools, if the total amount could be raised in some manner.

The group decided that since the money was donated to provide health service to all of the youngsters in the county, public and parochial, the money should be utilized for medical and dental care wherever needed.

Appropriate $250
The board voted $250 of the fund to the County Health Advisory committee which was set up last spring to administer the health program.

C. P. Keefer, New Oxford, president of the county health advisory committee, and Mrs. LeRoy H. Winebrenner, secretary, said the committee will utilize the funds for those who need financial assistance in providing medical and dental care.

Nurses will be asked to report health needs to the county committee. Donations by 31 organizations last year totaled $3,932.70. Services estimated at about $200 per nurse, which the county board did not have to pay, was given as the reason for the present balance.

The nurses elected last night and the districts they will serve include: Mrs. Wilda McBeth, Arendtsville, Bendersville, Biglerville, Butler, Tyrone and Menallen, a total of 1,174 youngsters in 37 rooms; Mrs. Freda Weaver, Conewago, Mt. Pleasant, Oxford, New Oxford, Berwick, Abbotstown, East Berlin, Reading and Hamilton, a total of 1,494 pupils in 47 rooms.

Mrs. Brenda Walker, Littlestown, Germany, Union, Mt. Joy, York Springs, Huntingtown and Latimore; a total of 1,406 students in 47 rooms. Mrs. Elizabeth Ridler, Straban, Cumberland, Franklin, Freedom, Highland, Fairfield, Hamiltonban and Liberty. A total of 1,254 pupils in 47 rooms.

New Fairfield Booklet Cites Advantages Of Community; Given Wide Distribution

A three and a quarter by six-inch booklet of 18 pages on the history of "Carroll's Delight" and the village of Fairfield, the section's schools, farming and industry, factories, banking facilities, fire protection, churches and other activities, has been published by the Fairfield Chamber of Commerce.

It is being distributed among Fairfield and vicinity residents, to visitors, and other interested persons, and is being sent out in shipments of fruit, etc., from the community.

The booklet, 2,000 copies of which were printed, is the work of three men, H. L. Harbaugh, Fairfield burgess and justice of the peace; Frank Moore, well-known historian of this section, and Dr. Norman S. Wolf, Fairfield minister.

Work of assembling the historical and other matter contained in the booklet and writing it, was begun in February.

BEST OF FRUIT IS PROCESSED, ROTARY HEARS

The relationship between processing and the sale of fresh fruit has been completely reversed in the last 40 years, M. E. Knouse, general manager of the Peach Glen plant of the National Fruit Product Corporation and a leading fruit grower, declared Monday evening in a speech at the regular meeting of the Rotary in the YWCA.

"Forty years ago the only deciduous fruit that went to the processor was that which could not be disposed of in any other way," Knouse said. "Now the majority of the fruit and the best goes to the processor."

Presenting a "Birdseye View of the Deciduous Fruit Industry in the U. S.," Knouse reported on a recent trip in which he visited nearly all of the leading deciduous fruit centers in the country.

Describing the tremendous growth of processing he said that now about 60 per cent of the apples go to the processor; almost all of the Montmorency cherries, one-half of the sweet cherries, 85 per cent of the Pacific coast and northwest area peaches and 55 to 60 per cent of all peaches grown in the U. S. and 41 to 42 per cent of all apples grown in the U. S.

Describes Cycles
He described the apple as a "slow cycle fruit" stating that "there seems to be a 50-year cycle in apples, from top production to lowest production. That cycle of course is marked by ups and downs along the way caused by frosts and the like that may wipe out a crop for a single year. But as a whole the production, and number of trees bearing, varies over a 50-year period from peak to low. We are in the low range of the cycle right now."

"We have just about one half as many bearing apple trees in the U. S. at the present time as we had in 1930, yet production has not dropped in proportion to the drop in bearing trees, due to the increased know-how in apple production."

While 43 states produce apples only 35 states produce apples commercially, Knouse said. Washington state has one-fourth of all apple production in the U. S. and expects to produce 32,000,000 bushels this year. "Washington growers spend much more in producing their apples than we do here," Knouse said. "They use irrigation throughout and pay anywhere from $40 to $48 per acre for water rights. In addition they have labor costs of 10 cents per bushel for pruning, 10 to 11 cents per bushel for thinning the trees and 10 cents per bushel for harvesting."

Spent More On Sprays
"In addition they spend three or four times as much for spraying in comparison with the situation here. We use tractors and sprayers, they cannot take heavy equipment into the orchard because of the

Plans to hold a number of public meetings during the coming fall and winter were developed by the Cumberland township Citizens Committee Monday evening at a meeting in the court house.

Carroll Redding, chairman of the committee, said the group plans to make a study of better educational programs and facilities and to report to the general public on what can be done to improve the school systems.

He also announced that the public sessions would be held to protect the citizens' desires in forthcoming discussions between Cumberland township and Gettysburg school boards on a proposed jointure or merger of the two school districts.

At noon today the thermometer showed an 88, and was rising steadily.

The forecaster indicated thermometers would register little higher than 88 or 90 today—a drop from yesterday's high in Philadelphia of 91, Harrisburg, 95, and Pittsburgh, 92.

At least two more deaths were noted in the state yesterday as directly caused by the heat while four persons collapsed in the Philadelphia area.

The fatalities were Fred Messe, 53-year-old crane operator who died while working near Norristown, and Mrs. Lena Zwick, 64, of Philadelphia, stricken on a shopping trip.

The high temperatures served to break one precedent in Philadelphia where police superintendent Howard P. Sutton issued an edict permitting police officers to remove their normally un-removable coats. Street patrolmen are permitted to work in shirtsleeves throughout the summer months.

Heavy thunderstorms in the Pittsburgh area last night pushed the temperature down seven degrees from the day's high of 90, damaged electric and telephone circuits and caused scattered property damage.

Mrs. Anna Staub, 31, was stunned as lightning struck an electric wire near her. She was treated for shock at a hospital.

The origin of this name dates back to 1735, when Lord Baltimore conferred upon the three Carrolls—Charles, Mary and Elinor—a tract of 5000 acres which was supposed to be within the limits of the grant given Charles I to George Calvert.

Expect Break Soon
(By The Associated Press)
Pennsylvanians had the weatherman's assurance today that a cool air mass moving down from the northwest will end the current heat wave sometime tonight or Wednesday.

The forecaster indicated thermometers would register little higher than 88 or 90 today—a drop from yesterday's high in Philadelphia of 91, Harrisburg, 95, and Pittsburgh, 92.

At least two more deaths were noted in the state yesterday as directly caused by the heat while four persons collapsed in the Philadelphia area.

Director Of Park Service Favors Cemetery Closing To Remaining Burial Area

(Special To The Times)
Washington, Aug. 26.—Public concern as to the future of Gettysburg National Cemetery has brought official assurance from government sources that there is no movement afoot to destroy the beauties of this shrine, according to Representative Chester H. Gross, of the Adams-York-Franklin district.

As a matter of fact, the National Park Service in the Department of Interior, and the Office of the Quartermaster General, War Department, which agencies have jurisdiction over the park and cemetery, are now seeking ways and means of perpetuating the shrine as it now stands in order that the traditional Memorial Day patriotic exercises may continue to be conducted.

Cites Times Article
Concern over the future of Gettysburg National Cemetery was brought to the attention of Newton B. Drury, director of the National Park Service, last Friday.

Anxiety resulted, the Congressman told Drury, following publication of an article in the August 19 issue of The Gettysburg Times entitled "Return of World War II Dead From Overseas May Bring Closing Of National Cemetery Here."

In a letter to Congressman Gross, Drury stated as follows:

Favors Closing
"I agree with you that the Gettysburg National Cemetery should be closed to burials as soon as the remaining grave sites have been filled, and that those grave sites should be reserved, if possible, for burial of Civil War veterans or their sons. There are 91 grave sites still available in the enlisted men's section and 18 grave sites in the officer's section of the Gettysburg National Cemetery, a total of 109 graves. Gettysburg National Cemetery, along with the ten other national cemeteries administered by this Service, are memorial cemeteries, as you know, and in some of them no burials are now permitted."

"The Office of the Quartermaster General, War Department, is responsible for the administration and maintenance of the active national cemeteries located throughout the United States. I am asking that office whether it will be satisfactory to close the Gettysburg National Cemetery when the remaining 109 graves have been filled, whether interments therein may be limited to Civil War veterans and their sons, and whether it can have the bodies of the 288 World War II veterans, mentioned in the newspaper article, buried in one or more of the active national cemeteries under its jurisdiction."

No Money For Annex
"The only way I could see of making provision for burying the bodies of World War II veterans in Gettysburg National Cemetery would be to get the War Department to purchase a tract of land either adjacent to or near the existing Cemetery, as no funds are available to this Service for this purpose. If that Department has funds to do so, and you should consider it advisable, I would be willing to suggest to the War Department that it purchase the necessary land for addition to the Gettysburg National Cemetery."

"It would seem, however, as stated above, that it would be better to retain Gettysburg National Cemetery as a memorial cemetery, as it is at present; limit the remaining 109 graves to Civil War veterans and their sons, and ask the War Department to bury the bodies of the World War II veterans in question in one or more of its active national cemeteries."

Dr. Miller Testifies
Miller, according to Smith's testimony, had a shovel partly raised, and Smith said: "I thought he was going to hit me." He said he struck him.

Mr. and Mrs. Guido Barney, and Miss Fay Seiple, Harrisburg, who were with Smith at the cottage, corroborated Smith's testimony relative to the names alleged to have been called Smith by Miller.

Mary C. McKinney, McSherrystown, and Henry S. Noel, Hanover, appeared as character witnesses for Smith.

EXPECT TREATY OF IMPORTANCE TO AMERICAS

Quitandinha, Brazil, Aug. 26 (AP)—Inter-American conference delegates were in virtual agreement today on all controversial questions, promising swift completion on an historic treaty of mutual defense of the western hemisphere.

Formal agreement by a five-nation subcommittee on measures to be taken against aggression and Argentina's acceptance of the two-thirds majority rule in invoking those measures came in quick succession yesterday and reports immediately began circulating that the 20-nation conference would finish writing the treaty by the week-end.

Unconfirmed reports were current in conference circles that President Truman might advance the date of his visit here, now scheduled for Sept. 5. He is scheduled to close the conference formally.

Committee in Agreement

A drafting subcommittee—composed of delegates from the United States, Brazil, Mexico, Peru and Bolivia, concluded four days of work last night in full agreement on 12 main clauses on aggression, which one delegate called "The very heart of the treaty."

The text of these clauses was to be presented to the parent subcommittee today. Foreign Minister Ricardo J. Alfaro of Panama, who served as ex-officio chairman of the sub-committee, said the draft included:

1. The branding of aggression as such "wherever it occurs."
2. Collective measures to be taken against aggression.
3. Establishment of a hemisphere security zone which would call for common defense measures against attack from the Arctic to the Antarctic. Canada, later, is to be invited to participate in hemisphere defense.

Compromise Formula

Alfaro said the controversial question of whether distinction should be drawn between aggression from without and from within was settled by the following compromise formula:

1. Collective armed action may be taken immediately against an attack from outside the hemisphere.
2. In the event of aggression stemming from within the hemisphere, the attacked nation may take up arms immediately in self defense "and such other nations as desire may come to her aid."
3. However, before organized collective armed action may be taken by American nations to halt aggression from within, "all pacific measures must first be exhausted."

These measures include arbitration, conciliation and recourse to the International Court of Justice.

Argentina last week proposed to bar the use of joint force in setting intrahemisphere aggression, but the United States immediately opposed this. Alfaro said the new compromise formula apparently settled that issue, although he said no one called it a compromise.

Starts Fight In Church Then Dies

Knoxville, Tenn., Aug. 26 (AP)—After a sermon at the Fourth Avenue Baptist church, a member of the congregation arose, accused the pastor of conspiracy, started a free-for-all fight, and then dropped dead.

Knox County Coroner O. K. Williams attributed the death of the church member, Sherrod J. Lee, 56, to a heart attack and said he did not believe it resulted from the fight.

The Rev. Henry J. Varner, 38-year old pastor, said the fight started Sunday night when Lee accused him and another church leader of seeking to sell the church and keep the money.

The Reverend Varner said last night he had resigned and would preach in another community.

Mystery Baby Is Gaining Weight

Gettysburg's mystery baby, little Miss Unknown, discovered in the parked automobile of Attorney Donald M. Swope, on West Broadway last Friday morning, is "doing just fine" at the Annie M. Warner hospital, but police so far have been unable to discover the identity of either the baby or its parents.

Circulars have been sent out by the police to numerous hospitals, with descriptions of the baby, but reports thus far have all been negative.

Meanwhile, "the baby continues to show the progress of all normal month-old infants. Nurses said it is gaining weight. It weighed seven pounds, one ounce the day of its admission. Today it weighed seven pounds, four and a quarter ounces.

BULGARIA MAY DESTROY FOES OF COMMUNISM

Sofia, Bulgaria, Aug. 26 (AP)—A bill to dissolve the Agrarian party, chief opposition to the Communist-dominated Fatherland Front government, was introduced today in Parliament.

The party is headed by Nikola Petkov, now under sentence of death on charges of plotting against the government.

(The British Foreign Office announced in London today that Soviet Russia has rejected a British-American request for consultation on Petkov's death sentence, holding that such consultation would be "interference in Bulgarian internal affairs.")

(A British Foreign Office spokesman, commenting on reports that the Bulgarian Agrarians would be outlawed, said "it would seem to be a good example of the 'gleichsalting' (forcing into line) technique, of which there have been several examples in Germany since 1933.")

May Lose Seats

The bill, which also would abolish Agrarian youth organization, would deprive the Agrarians of their remaining seats in the Parliament. The law comes up for discussion and probable passage tomorrow.

The Agrarians now have 64 seats in Parliament. They elected 90 members in the October, 1946, elections in which the Fatherland Front coalition seated 366. The opposition Lulchev Socialists elected nine members.

Parliament last night approved unanimously the Bulgarian peace treaty drafted at Paris, although both government and opposition speakers called it "hard and unjust."

The treaty assesses Bulgaria $70,000,000 in reparations—$45,000,000 to Greece and $25,000,000 to Yugoslavia. She loses no territory by the treaty, despite earnest Greek demands at the peace table, but her armed forces are limited to 65,000 men, 7-250 tons of warships and 90 airplanes.

Russia is required to withdraw her occupation troops from Bulgaria 90 days after ratification, but Russia has not yet ratified the treaty.

HITCHHIKERS ARE BEFRIENDED

Mr. and Mrs. William T. Timmins, Sr., Buford avenue, proved Monday night that the good Samaritan still exists and that he exists in Gettysburg.

A man, his wife and three children, one nine, another three and the baby 21 months of age were stranded in Gettysburg Monday evening. During the war, after the man's discharge from the navy he had been a shipyard worker in Florida. Out of work there, he and his family came to Chester to see if they could find work at the husband's trade.

Failing to find a home in Chester due to the children, the husband and wife decided to go to Washington, Pa., where they have relatives. With only $60—the pay for a week's work at Chester, the family started hitchhiking.

Last evening they could not find a ride out of here. They walked slowly along Buford avenue, attempting to find a passing motorist who would take them with him.

They were seated on the curb in front of the Timmins house after dark and Mrs. Timmins heard a baby crying. She investigated, learned of the situation and then the travelers became the guests of the Timmins family for the night.

This morning the travelers resumed their hitch-hiking way again.

Compensation For TB Patients Raised

Washington, Aug. 26 (AP)—The Veterans' Administration said today it will provide full disability compensation for two years instead of six months hereafter to war-veteran hospital patients released with arrested pulmonary tuberculosis.

The agency said the action will provide better control of arrested cases of the disease and will reduce the necessity of further hospitalization of the patients.

One official estimated that 700 veterans will benefit, and that the program will cost $500,000 a year. The average patient receives $138 a month after his discharge on a totally disabled basis, but heretofore the payments have been reduced by 50 per cent within six months of the man's discharge.

The patient is given up to two years after his discharge in which to recover at home before taking a job, but the Veterans' Administration requires that he submit to a medical examination every six months.

Oyer, police said, ran off the road to the left side to avoid the child and his truck came to rest in a cabbage patch.

JEW REFUGEES AT GIBRALTAR; GOING TO REICH

Gibraltar, Aug. 26 (AP)—Three British ships, carrying 4,400 Jews to Germany after they refused for weeks to disembark in France, docked at Gibraltar under the muzzles of machineguns today to take on coal and provisions.

The Jews, balked in their efforts to enter Palestine without immigration certificates and returned to France, were expected to remain here about two days before resuming the trip to Hamburg.

The whole vicinity around the North Mole where the transports berthed was covered with barbed wire. Naval and police launches patrolled the waters. The ships made port under escort of a cruiser and two destroyers. A detachment of a Cameronian regiment served as area guards. Two machinegun posts were set up.

(The Danish government considered an urgent request of Marcus Melchior, chief Rabbi of Denmark, to receive the Jews on Danish soil and house them temporarily.)

(The Jewish National Council in Jerusalem appealed to all nations to help prevent the deportation of the Jews to Germany. It messaged the refugees on shipboard: "Do not despair.")

46th Day Aboard Ship

The refugees, who attempted to enter Palestine by running the British blockade last month aboard the "Exodus 1947," were beginning their 46th consecutive day aboard ship.

The British intercepted them off the Holy Land coast and carried them back to France, from which they had embarked. But they refused to disembark at Port De Boue and after three weeks the British gave them a final chance to disembark or be taken to Germany.

When they refused again, the transports—the Rymnede Park, Ocean Vigour and Empire Rival—set out Friday night on a 17-day voyage for Hamburg, in the British zone of Germany.

Berlin's Jewish community observed a special day of fasting today in protest against the trans-shipment of the 4,400 refugees.

The Berlin press reported that the Central Committee of Liberated Jews in the U. S. occupation zone also had called for work strikes.

STATE HIGHWAY BLANKS MOOSE 3-0 IN OPENER

Charley Lightner's State Highway football team copped the first of the best-out-of-three series with the Moose for the championship of the community league Monday evening when it blanked the lodgemen 6-0 before a large throng on the high school field.

The second game of the series will be played Wednesday evening and if a third game is required it will be played Thursday.

George Fair was in top-notch form as he permitted the Moose but no hits. The Moose had but four as runners during the game, no more than one in any inning.

Score Early
The Highway started off with a pair of runs in the first frame. Hankey singled and Gorman walked. Stambaugh singled to score Hankey. The bases were loaded when Everhart was hit by a pitched ball. Donaldson popped out. A walk to A. Hankey enabled Gorman to score and then Fair and Kitzmiller went out on infield flies.

Hits by Spahr, G. Hankey and Gorman produced another Highway win in the fourth.

Houck pitched himself out of a hole in the fifth frame when the Highway loaded the bases on three hits with none out. Donaldson was forced at the plate by Kitzmiller and Spahr and G. Hankey popped out.

A three-run assault in the seventh inning removed any doubt as to the outcome, the runs trickling across in a walk to A. Hankey and safeties by Fair, Kitzmiller and March.

GRID CHALLENGE IS TURNED DOWN

New York, Aug. 26 (AP)—The first formal attempt to match the champions of the National football league and the all-America conference in a post-season tussle for the undisputed professional title found the young all-America loop getting a very cold shoulder today from its older rival.

Admiral Jonas H. Ingram, all-America conference commissioner, wired the challenge to Commissioner Bert Bell of the National league and then sat back to await developments — which weren't long in coming.

"Not interested," snapped Bell, turning thumbs down on the invitation at Philadelphia. He declined further comment, except to point out emphatically that National league teams "don't play post-season games."

Ingram's challenge called for the proceeds of the game to go either to charity or to the winning team. He told newsmen he thought such a game would net $250,000 and he pledged his circuit's representative to turn it all to charity if the contest could be arranged on a winner-take-all basis.

Battle Continues For Second Place

(By The Associated Press)
The Vandergrift-Pioneers maintaining a middle Atlantic league pace they set early in July, won again last night, defeating the last place Uniontown Coal Barons, 7 to 1. Six of the Vandergrift runs were scored in the fourth inning on five singles, a triple and three Uniontown errors.

The battle for second continued nip-and-tuck between the Niagara Falls Frontiers and the third-place Erie Sailors, now separated by only a game and a half.

Both teams won doubleheaders yesterday, Niagara Falls defeating Oil City, 7-5 and 9-5 while Erie took the measure of Youngstown 12-7 and 6-2.

The Erie wins knocked Youngstown out of any chance of gaining a berth in the league's Shaughnessy system playoffs which start September 3.

In the other game played, the Johnstown Johnnies edged Butler, 4 to 3, after stemming a ninth inning Yank rally.

Half Title May Be Decided Tonight

This evening at 6 o'clock Benderville and Littlestown will clash in a first half game of the Adams County Baseball league on the New Oxford diamond.

At a meeting Friday of the league following interruption of play by an argument during a game last Thursday at Littlestown, it was decided to stage replay the game on a neutral field with umpires from other communities officiating.

Benderville can clinch the first half title with a victory while a defeat will create a four-way tie between Benderville, Orrtanna, Hanover and Arendtsville.

MUNGER'S NIGHT PITCHING BEATS BOSTON BRAVES

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

If George (Red) Munger, unpredictable St. Louis right-hander, could pitch as well in the daytime as he does at night, the Cardinals today would be leading the National league instead of trailing the Brooklyn Dodgers by six games.

Munger, who boasts a season record of 11 victories and four defeats, has been almost unbeatable under the lights. In 10 starts at night, the fast baller has won nine and lost only one. In his only after-dark defeat, his team was shut out.

In sharp contrast, Red dropped three games in five decisions and failed to go the route in nine of 11 daytime starts.

Munger gained his ninth night game victory last night when he pitched a five-hitter as the Cards defeated the Braves in Boston 5-2 before 32,129 fans.

Dodgers Also Win
The Cards failed to gain ground on the Dodgers, who won a free-hitting game from the Pittsburgh Pirates at Ebbets' field 11-10.

The Dodgers clubbed Kirby Higbe and Rip Sewell for seven runs in the second inning, held an 11-5 lead after six innings. They were forced to stave off a desperate Buc rally in the ninth. Ace Reliever Hugh Casey disposed of Sluggers Ralph Kiner and Hank Greenberg with the potential tying run on third base.

Billy Jurgens slammed a 10th inning home run with one man on to enable the Chicago Cubs to defeat the New York Giants 9-7. Six homers were hit in all. The Giants have a total of 175 for the season.

Scoring five runs in the first two innings against Oscar Judd, the Cincinnati Reds whipped the Phillies in Philadelphia 5-3 in a night game. Bucky Walters posted his seventh win of the season and 197th of his major league career.

Sox Nip Yankees
The Chicago White Sox continued their phenomenal success in one-run decisions by nipping the New York Yankees in Chicago 4-3. It was their 30th victory by one run as compared to 13 such defeats. Don Kolloway, with two singles and a double, paced the Sox 11-hit attack against Bill Bevens and Charlie Wenzeloff.

Three walks with the bases loaded forced in three Cleveland runs and enabled the Indians to defeat the Boston Red Sox 10-8.
Scoring four runs in the first three innings, the Philadelphia Athletics went on to defeat the Detroit Tigers 7-5 and move within a game of the third place Bengals.

Lefty Sam Zolack won a pitchers' battle from Rae Scarborough as the St. Louis Browns won a 1-0 thriller from the Washington Senators. A second inning walk to Jeff Heath, an infield out and Billy Hitchcock single produced the only run. The Nats got four hits to three for the Browns in the night game at St. Louis.

Eastern League

(By The Associated Press)
The Albany Senators made it two straight at Albany last night over the Utica Blue Sox, winning a 6-5, 10 inning struggle to pare the Sox Eastern league margin to three and a half games.

The entire Wilkes-Barre Baron club was honored by fans at Wilkes-Barre last night, and to show their appreciation for a shower of gifts, the Barons reversed the usual process and hammered out a 5-1 victory over the Elmira Pioneers.

The Scranton Miners put on a special batting show for children from city orphanages and a group of friends from their spring training base at Bennettsville, S. C. The Miners hammered four Williamsport Tiger pitchers for 16 safeties and a 12-4 victory.
The Hartford Chiefs moved into sixth place by one point over the Binghanton Triplets when they turned back the Trips twice, 7 to 4 and 9 to 4.

Wilmington Beats Allentown 1A To 6

(By The Associated Press)
Wilmington gained a "full" game on second place Allentown in the Interstate league last night by defeating the Cardinals 11 to 6.

Wilmington scored eight runs in the seventh inning to take the game after Allentown piled up an early lead. The victory gave Wilmington a half game gain on league leading Trenton, idle yesterday with Hagerstown.

Sunbury took both ends of a twin bill from the York Roses, 2 to 1 and 8 to 7, the second game a 10-inning battle won by Sam Herman's triple and a long fly from the bat of Ray Posipanka.

In another doubleheader Harrisburg captured the opener 7 to 1 and Lancaster came back to take the nightcap 12 to 8.

Sports Roundup

BY RUSS NEWLAND
(For Hugh Fullerton)

(Advance) . . . San Francisco, Aug. 26 (AP)—Information department:

College alumni representatives of coaches and others interested in football have been beating a path to the door of a modest home in Portland for many months. The reason is that probably the finest prospect in all the history of the state of Oregon lives there.

His name is Pat Duffy and won't that name read swell in the headlines for Notre Dame in the future, folks? You know, the "Fighting Irish" and all that? There hasn't been a good "Mick" moniker at the old school for a long time. Young Duffy is a six footer, 190 pounds, 18 years old and only a high school junior. And he can do everything with a football except swallow it whole.

The list of colleges that have been proposed to schoolboy Duffy would fill a couple of pages. But Notre Dame, past or present, has talked to the lad. And that is where he wants to go. If he can't get an athletic scholarship there, his dad is willing to pay his tuition.

Just imagine. A straight "A" student and potential George Gipp yearning for one college, with dozens of others to be had for the nod.

Purple sage state. Reno proudly displays the slogan, "The Biggest Little City in the World." The Nevada metropolis will back it up too, for money, marbles or chalk. It is the liveliest spot on the map for its size, and its liberal tax laws have attracted a growing residential "Millionaires' Row" that includes such permanent residents as Doris Duke and A. K. Bourne, the sewing machine tycoon.

The palatial mansions face the tenth fairway of the Reno Golf Club, which in two years has jumped into the major tournament division. The Reno Club, with its successful $15,000 open behind it, now is bidding for the 1948 Western Open Championship and has made a handsome retaining offer to National PGA title holder Jim Ferrier to represent it in the country's important links events.

Chit-Chat. The hottest man in golf today, incidentally, is Bobby Locke, the British subject from Johannesburg, South Africa. He's making the most of it by asking, and getting, $800 for an exhibition match. American professionals agree that the only player who would stand a chance to trim Locke fairly consistently over 18 holes is Byron Nelson, now retired from tournament competition. . . . Northern California horse racing goes big league when Golden Gate Field opens at nearby Albany next month. The plant eventually will rival Santa Anita and the Hollywood Turf Club, two of the classiest in the country.

Walter Mails, the old Cleveland Indian southpaw now a San Francisco publicity crackshot, describes Ed Fitzgerald, Sacramento's rookie catcher, as the best prospect behind the plate since Mickey Cochrane blossomed suddenly with Portland in the Coast League more than twenty years ago.

Wildwood, N. J., Aug. 26 (AP)—Henry Williams, of Sunbury, Pa., scored a record-breaking five-under-par 134 to take medal honors in the qualifying round of the Professional Golfer's Association tournament at the Wildwood Golf and Country club. The 30-year-old Susquehanna Country club pro went out in 65 yesterday and came back in 69 to lead the 40 other golfers competing from the Philadelphia area.

Cumberland, Md., Aug. 26 (AP)—

Johnny Waltman, of Hyndman, Pa., right handed hurler of the Bi-State Baseball league, has signed a contract with the St. Louis Browns of the American league. Scout Johnny Maher said yesterday that Waltman will report to Muskogee, Okla., of the class C Western Association, a St. Louis farm team, next spring.

Utica, N. Y., Aug. 26 (AP)—Hal Ansbach, 157, of Williamsport, Pa., won an eight-round decision last night over Eddie Lee, 160, Amsterdam, N. Y., in a semi-final bout here.

Asbury Park, N. J., Aug. 26 (AP)—Harry Chamberlain, 147, of Chambersburg, Pa., knocked out Pat Erio, 142, of Summit, N. J., in 2:15 of the first round of a scheduled four-round preliminary of a fight show here last night.

TED WILLIAMS SLUGS TO TOP OF AMERICAN

New York, Aug. 26 (AP)—Bidding for his third batting title, and his first since 1942, thumpin' Ted Williams, slugging Red Sox outfielder, moved in front in the American league hitting parade today with a mark of .337.

Williams joined Herry Walker, the National league's leading swatter, who maintained his terrific season-long hitting by increasing his average to .352.

Williams, who won the crown in 1941 and '42, slammed nine hits in 17 trips to the plate to take a seven-point lead over Cleveland's Dale Mitchell, who climbed eight points to a runner-up .330, through games of Sunday, Aug. 24.

Manager Lou Boudreau of the Indians, dropped six points to a fourth place tie with Luke Appling of the Chicago White Sox at .327, a point behind third place Branny McCosky of the Philadelphia Athletics.

Other leaders include Joe DiMaggio, New York Yankees, .324; George Kell, Detroit, .319; Taft Wright, Chicago, .315; Johnny Pesky, Boston Red Sox, .313 and Bill Johnson, Yankees, .305.

Walker added five points in the last seven days to lift him 33 points above Peter Reiser of Brooklyn, current runner-up. The Philadelphia outfielder bashed 13 hits in 32 times at bat during the week. Reiser, fourth a week ago, upped his mark to .319. Augie Galan, veteran Cincinnati outfielder, slumped from second to fifth with .310. Phil Cavaretta of Chicago, at .316, and Walker Cooper of the New York Giants, at .313, were third and fourth respectively.

Other leaders include Whitey Kurowski, St. Louis Cardinals, .309; Tommy Holmes, Boston Braves, .308; Bob Elliott, Braves, .308; Dixie Walker, Brooklyn, older brother of Harry, and Frank Gustine, Pittsburgh, tied for ninth at .306.

Five Under Par Leads Golf Scores

Bedford, Pa., Aug. 26 (AP)—Turning in a five under par 137, Steve Kovach of Pittsburgh led a field of 49 yesterday in the pro-amateur open golf tourney at the Bedford Springs country club. Frank Souchak, also of Pittsburgh, carded a 147 to win amateur honors.
Kovach, the Pennsylvania open champion, shot a 69 in the morning round, then came back in the afternoon with 68 for the best score recorded on the course since pre-war days.

Teamed with Dick Beach of the Pittsburgh field club and Joe Factor of Brackenridge Heights, Kovach's threesome carded a 61-63-124 to sew up the best ball title.

Mike Pavella of Washington, Pa., led the morning round with a 69 but had a tough nine going out in the afternoon, winding up with 75 for a total score of 144. He was tied with Sam Drake of Churchill Valley and John Dass of Baltimore, Md. for second.

Sport Shorts

Philadelphia, Aug. 26 (AP)—George Fonder, Lansdale, Pa., and Len Duncan, New York, jockeyed for the lead through the first 16 laps of the class A 25-lap Frankford Handicap at the Yellowjacket Speedway last night before Fonder zoomed ahead to win in 5:29.54. Following Fonder and Duncan were Lloyd Christopher, Miami, Fla.; Art Cross, Rutherford, N. J.; Jimmy Forte, Philadelphia, and Larry Bloomer, Norristown, Pa. Cross took the class B 20-lap Northeast Handicap.

Today's Talk

THE SEEING EYE

It has been uttered time and again that love is blind. I do not believe it. Love is the one thing that sees! It sees the beauty in things, in Nature, and in human beings. It sees so plainly that it overlooks grave faults and sees only the fine and generous in others.

Love is the seeing eye that spreads its vision far and wide. And because it is always looking for the best in people, in Nature and in life, it penetrates deep. Love is the over-all of life.

We throw love around a great deal, and often abuse it, but it can stand it, for it is patient and long suffering. Take the love of a mother, for example, and note that it never runs out. It is something eternal.

Henry Drummond wrote a little book that became famous all over the world, many years ago, and he called it "The Greatest Thing in the World." Of course this "greatest thing" was love. What could be greater? It is what holds the world together, and if enough of it were used by nations right now, there would be no fear of war, or anything else. You can spread out love because it is something that is exhaustless. The more of it that you give away the more you have!

Not only is love the seeing eye, but it is also the greatest traveler in the world. It can cross the world in a single word. Many years ago some people in China wished to send a Christmas cable in the cheapest manner that would mean and express the most, the love that they had in their hearts, and so they sent the one word—"Others." That is the interpretation of love—doing or giving something to or for others.

The Christian religion is saturated with this one word—love. So is all friendship. And so is the family held together by it. It would be an impossible world without this seeing eye of love ever at work! Just imagine what it could do for Europe right now! And what a simple remedy to apply—at no cost whatsoever. How strange that the simplest, and cheapest, methods for the bringing of happiness to mankind are the neglected ones, and the ones that cause the most damage and heartaches, are the expensive ones!

Love can always find a way. That is why it is so important to have it around always, and to allow its eye to have full range. It is such a worker of miracles!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Cooking Up Happiness."

Just Folks

The Poet of the People BY EDGAR A. GUEST

ANSWERING THE GOSSIPS

They say much graver: I should be,
But on my way to town
If some sweet maiden smiles at me
Am I supposed to frown?

They tell me: "Grandpa, be your age!
Your hair is silver gray
And you have reached the somber stage,
And somber you should stay."

But what has age to do with this,
I'll never understand;
Must I with scorn the maid dismiss
Who offers me her hand?

I'm not too old a smile to see,
Nor is my blood too cold
Buyer of bubble gum to be
For some sweet six-year-old.

Chicago, Aug. 26 (AP)—Three-year-old Margaret Harris, who amazed her parents a year ago with piano renditions of "Merrily We Roll Along," and other tunes, hit the classical concert stride on Sunday.

With the use of improvised pedal attachments, the negro child presented a full length program of Brahms, Bach, Schubert, Tchaikowsky, Mozart and Rimsky-Korsokov before 200 listeners in a south side church.

Margaret's program, presented from memory, was of simplified musical arrangement but one that would have tasked a much older pianist, said her teacher, Mildred Godfrey Hall.

The Mason Dixon Memorial Post No. 6954, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will not hold their regular meeting scheduled for this evening, due to the Firemen's carnival. The next meeting will be held the second Tuesday in September, at the post home West King street.

The entertainment for tonight, the second of the local Firemen carnival, being held on the Littlestown playground, will be Horace Stine and his minstrels. Tomorrow night Tex Barr and his Trail Riders will be on hand and on Thursday, the Littlestown high school band will give a concert. Fire company officials requested today that any firemen not now serving on committees volunteer their services for one or more nights during the carnival. A number of stands were without sufficient help the first night of the carnival last evening.

TIME NEEDED TO ACQUIRE CHAIRMANSHIP

By J. FRANK TRAGLE
(For James Marlow)

Washington, Aug. 26 (AP)—The congressional "seniority system" which is almost constantly under fire, has this to be said in its favor:

It enables every member of Congress to become a committee chairman if he does three things—

1. Is reelected often enough.

2. Lives long enough.

3. Is a member of the party in power when the fellow just ahead of him dies or is defeated.

Of course, if a member is ambitious he isn't happy in the thought that it might take him 25 years to win his letter.

Congress hasn't a monopoly on the seniority idea. You find it in the armed services, in labor unions, in other organizations.

But Congress probably adheres to it more closely than does any other body of comparable size and power in the world.

It has been lambasted and defended for years — still is being talked and written about.

Shelved Last Year

When Congress voted last year to change its ways of doing business it was suggested that the seniority system be shelved in the archives beside the early photographs of Washington's muddy streets.

Nothing came of it.

But other attempts to do away with it undoubtedly will be made. What's been said in defense of it?

1. It eliminates squabbles and petty fights.

2. It eliminates log-rolling. ("You vote for me for chairman of armed services and I'll vote for you for chairman of banking and currency.")

3. It ensures that the work of Congress will be directed by persons experienced in the ways of Congress and of its committees.

What's been said against it?

1. A member becomes a chairman, not because he is necessarily qualified for the position, but because he comes from a safe district and has managed to stay alive a long time.

2. Ambitious men often are discouraged from running for Congress because they feel that their education and experience won't count for anything.

3. A man who heads a committee solely through seniority is not under control of the party.

Remedies Suggested

Here's the thought behind that last point:

The people elect a party to carry out—or to make a real effort to carry out—its platform pledges. A committee chairman out of sympathy with the party and outside party control can stall or kill legislation which the party as elected to adopt.

Among suggested remedies are that chairmen be elected by (1) the committees themselves; (2) party membership of the House or Senate; (3) a special committee of the party, or (4) that they be appointed by the presiding officers or the majority leaders of the two chambers.

HOUSING TIGHT IN COLLEGES IN PENNSYLVANIA

By WILLIAM G. SMOCK
Pittsburgh, Aug. 26 (AP)—Reports from the campuses this year indicate the 1947 collegian again will be a harried individual worrying as much about breathing and sleeping space as he does about his studies—with higher living costs adding another pinch.

A survey of western Pennsylvania colleges showed today enrollments are up for the most part over last year. While more veterans are signing up, their numbers tend to increase at a slightly lower rate. A few schools said they would have less ex-servicemen this fall.

Several schools blamed the gap between subsistence grants and living costs for lowering the number of married veterans.

Housing accommodations will continue tight almost everywhere but several colleges said arrangements worked out under pressure last year will suffice when fall semesters start. Only a few have increased accommodations.

Pittsburgh Has 19,000
One of the largest proportionate gains in enrollment was reported by the University of Pittsburgh where 19,000 enrolled, compared to 16,939 last year. The percentage of vets there will drop to 50 per cent from about 55 per cent.

Pitt officials said the trend is away from married veterans and toward younger students. The problem of overtaxed facilities at Pitt is being met with establishments of a new junior college, the Ellsworth Center, which will handle about 1,000 students who cannot be admitted to the campus proper.

Westminster college expects housing to be more adequate. The college built barracks for 89 single veterans and 48 married former servicemen with families. All told, government surplus buildings worth $68,000 have been moved to the campus. They include class rooms, recreation facilities and an infirmary. The new Westminster institution will have more veterans than ever this autumn.

Geneva college at Beaver Falls is fortunate enough to be near three low-cost, government housing projects which are available to students as vacancies occur. The college has hundreds of names on its waiting list, however. One third of Geneva's veterans are married and some have three or four children. The college's news bureau said:

"These veterans especially feel the need for higher subsistence to raise their standard of living."

Family Problems
Married veterans at Duquesne who are struggling to get an education while raising a family also are having difficulty. The Rev. J. A. Louritis said the added burden of families "seems to be taxing the fathers to the quitting point."

Duquesne expects housing to be more critical this fall because of the school's return to intercollegiate athletic competition. Enrollment will show a slight gain to about 5,000, 75 per cent of whom are veterans. The college is making efforts to place more students in private homes.

Allegheny, with a student body of 1,100, will show a small advance this fall. A spokesman said that while the college operated at capacity last year, it increased enrollment because of a promise to re-admit any student who saw military service. The housing shortage will remain critical.

Washington and Jefferson college records show fewer married veterans are coming to school. Melvin D. Brewer, assistant to the president, said while married veterans do good academic work they have a hard economic row to hoe. He said "because of the low income which most married veterans have they must find additional outside employment after school hours, or their wives must work."

(the first Lord Baltimore) in 1634. Because of the hazy knowledge of the American continent it was inevitable that the granting of lands, and the invasion of colonists from a number of the European countries, would produce conflicting claims among the settlers. This was especially true of the settlers in the grant given by Charles II to William Penn, and that which had been given fifty years earlier to Lord Baltimore. This latter grant extended northward from the Potomac River, included what is now Delaware, the southern fringe of what became Pennsylvania and a part of West Virginia.

It was under such circumstances that Carroll's Grant extended northward in Pennsylvania. About it there developed considerable border line contention which was not allayed until the Mason and Dixon boundary line settled the matter. Thereafter this lovely spot became the inheritance of Pennsylvania settlers, but the significant name was retained. In it lies the justification for the geographical and economical consideration it deserves.

Planes To Attack Flies In Delaware

Wilmington, Del., Aug. 26—Airplanes equipped with DDT spray gear will be used to determine whether infantile paralysis is being carried by houseflies in this Delaware city where four new cases of poliomyelitis today raised the year's total to 69. Three persons have died of the disease.

U. S. Public Service Health officials said three converted army training planes will be used to spray DDT on the city once a week.

Low flying rehearsal flights yesterday brought a storm of protests from Wilmington residents but Dr. George Boines, president of the Wilmington Board of Health, issued a statement that the DDT will be harmless to humans while bringing death to mosquitoes and flies.

and by two other knobs that dominate the landscape—McKee's and McGinley's hills—which are about a mile apart and are connected by a ridge which separates Carroll's grant into the "North" and the "South" tract, lies this charming little valley which is a veritable gem, both because of its abrupt ending at the very foot of imposing hills, and because of its unusual fertility. It is not more than eight miles in length and about three and a half miles in width at its widest point.

No large streams divide this tract into inconvenient sections. Yet it is well-watered by two creeks; Middle Creek which runs southeastward through the entire tract; and Toms Creek which skirts along the western edge and carries off the mountain drainage. And as for springs and general water supply, the entire tract abounds in perennial springs and wells which guarantee the comforts and satisfaction of the inhabitants.

Snuggled close to the foot of these hills which from the crescent lies the charming village of Fairfield. It is centrally located in the southern end of "Carroll's Delight." From it, looking eastward, westward and northward, it extends in an unbroken sight line, so that the entire expanse forms one of the loveliest pastoral panoramas possible, ending as it does in the prominent hill known as "Mary's Hill" and its foothills.

The early settlers at once began hewing out their farms from the ancient forests, so that within a century the area was turned into a little plain which was and still is a veritable "Garden of the Lord" in its productivity. Traces of mineral deposits—especially of iron, were located here. The copper veins proved too thin to warrant their exploitation. A very real effort was made to turn the iron deposits into a profitable industry. But that too had to yield to the more important development of the iron industry which sprung up in central and western Pennsylvania. The one continuing mineral industry is that of producing limestone both for agricultural and road-building purposes.

Orchard Industry
The boast and the glory of this tract has always been its agricultural industry. With the disappearance of the woodland, every available acre of tillable ground has been made the servant of the plow. Today, according to the times of season, one sees, from some outlying vantage point, a thrilling mosaic of the variety of crops with their varied colors from seedtime to harvest; wheat, corn in abundance, barley, oats and bumper crops of hay, while excellent grazing portions are dotted with the cattle which have in late years taken the place of the herds of cows which sustained a flourishing dairy industry.

Worthy of very special mention is the extensive orchard industry which has come to this valley within the last half century. Hundreds of acres of sheltered hillside, and of the level acreage too are now yielding abundant harvest of apples, peaches and cherries. Related to the orchard industry is a mammoth processing plant on the northern end of the valley which affords profitable employment for hundreds of men, women and young people.

Because of the predominant agricultural environment, Fairfield has not been bent on locating industrial plants. Within recent years however a real beginning has been made in this direction by the building of a flourishing shoe factory. It is the hope now and the ambition too, of the town and of the surrounding vicinity to enlarge this industrial activity. The natural adaptability of the locality and an adequate labor supply which would be easily provided by a stimulated influx of population, invite prospective industries which are looking for relocation or for initial locations, to make a preliminary survey of this vicinity. The borough officials, and the citizenry as a whole would welcome such investigations, and are ready to offer inducements and their cooperation to the limit of their ability.

Railroad Facilities
"Carroll's Delight" is tapped by a first-class railroad—the Western Maryland—which, as a part of the Wabash System, has excellent terminal facilities and opens in all directions to the large cities and the industrial centers. Easy access to shipping points within the tract are available.

The Valley of Carroll's Delight lying along the Mason and Dixon Line, between the high temperatures of the South and the extreme low ones of the North and sheltered on the North and West by the South Mountains is remarkably free from the devastating storms that pass over other parts of the country.

On the foothills are many acres of land available for orchards of peach, apple and cherries. Many homes are being built and building lots can be purchased at reasonable prices.

Greyhound Bus Lines, over Pennsylvania State Highway No. 116 pass through Fairfield and the Valley.

We invite you to build your home and your future in this beautiful valley.

History of Fairfield
While the history of Fairfield as a town dates back only to the first years of the nineteenth century, the history of the surrounding countryside begins more than a half century earlier.

The first settlers in this section of Adams County then York County, were Scotch-Irish and German and came in numbers about 1740.

They lived the lives of the pioneers of America, hard labor, few comforts and constant danger. Depredations from the vengeful Red Man were not uncommon in this now peaceful little valley. Burnings, scalplings and captivities visited upon these hardy and tenacious home makers. Perhaps the best known Indian raid occurred in April, 1758, when nineteen Indians of the Delaware Nation descended upon the home of Richard Bard at Marshall's Mill, better known as Virginia Mills. They made prisoners of Bard, his wife, their young baby, a servant girl Hannah McBride, Lieutenant Thomas Potter, a boy named White, Samuel Hunter and Daniel McManimy.

After burning the mill the whole party proceeded westward through the mountains but had not gone far when contrary to the strictly agreed upon terms of the surrender that all their lives would be spared, the tomahawk was used freely upon three of the prisoners; first the baby, then Lieutenant Potter and a short time later Samuel Hunter. Mr. Bard managed to escape; Daniel McManimy was later put to death. The boy and girl were not heard from for many years. Mrs. Bard was sold to and adopted by an Indian family. After about two years, Mr. Bard succeeded in buying her release. Soon after an adopted Indian brother of Mrs. Bard came to the Bard home and spent some time with them.

The barn on the William Waugh farm was burned in the year of 1757.

First Postmaster
These events occurred during the French and Indian War. A period of quiet and comparative security followed. A considerable number of men from the neighborhood served in the army during the Revolutionary War, among them were such well known names as McClain and Reed. In the year 1801 Squire William Miller who had a plot surveyed, divided it into building lots and called it Millerstown. This was in and around the present site of Fairfield. There was little building in the first few years.

A Post Office was established in 1817 and was called Miller's. Ezra Blythe was the first Postmaster and his salary was $18.16 a year. The stone barn and stone farm house built by Squire Miller are still standing and in use.

Building was much stimulated by the establishment of Maria Furnace about two miles west of the town in 1822. It was about this time that the town was renamed and called Fairfield. The furnace was owned by Thaddeus Stevens and managed for him by the Paxtons. Stoves and a few other articles were manufactured there.

On account of an insufficient supply of locally mined iron ore the plant was abandoned within a few years. About this time a church was built, a school established and religious societies organized and village life began in earnest.

In the middle 1830's building and grading for a railroad to start at Gettysburg and running through this valley in a southwesterly direction was expected to strike the B & O Railroad somewhere in Northern Maryland. Thaddeus Stevens of Gettysburg, a member of the Pennsylvania Assembly at that time stood sponsor for the project.

After a time financial aid was withheld by the Commonwealth and the plan had to be abandoned. This line came to be known as Thaddeus Stevens' Tape Worm—so called from the winding, twisting course that had to be followed to make the grades around the South Mountains.

Some bridge walls are still to be seen and after more than a century are in a splendid state of preservation. The Western Maryland Railroad completed in 1889 follows the general line of the abandoned road and used the road bed at some points.

The Civil War in the 1860's with the stirring events of those years touched the life of Fairfield and community very closely. Nearly all the young men of military age enlisted in the Union Army.

Three times during that period southern Pennsylvania was invaded and twice Fairfield was in the path of the invaders. In the autumn of 1862, following the battle of Antietam, Maryland, General J. E. B. Stuart with 1,200 Confederate horsemen crossed the Potomac, rode up the Cumberland Valley as far as Chambersburg, crossed the Mountains into Adams County, passed through Fairfield and by way of Emmitsburg and recrossed the Potomac below Harper's Ferry. The purpose of the raid was to collect horses from the farmers for the Southern Army.

This community lost many farm horses. They also took with them John Paxton who was Postmaster at Fairfield at that time and Squire William Lowe. They also picked up 18-year-old John Martin near Zora and took him along too, because he sassed them. After about six months in Libby Prison, Richmond, the three were exchanged and returned home.

Scene of Cavalry Fight
On July 3rd, 1863, a very severe cavalry battle was fought at the Marshall Farms about two miles north of town. The battle continued into and through Fairfield. There was no sound of battle from the soft notes of the bugle to the sullen voice of the cannon was not heard in the streets of the village in those days. In this engagement Major Samuel S. Starr commanded the 6th U. S. Cavalry and Colonel Cabel Flournoy the 6th Virginia Cavalry. Major Starr and Lieutenant Adna R. Chaffee who later became commanding general of the U. S. Army, were wounded and were cared for in private homes in town. After the battle a local church was converted into a temporary hospital where the wounded of the North and the wounded of the South were nursed and cared for side by side. Dr. Price of the Confederate Army remained behind to assist.

When his services were no longer needed he was allowed to go and rejoin the Army of Northern Virginia. The whole incident lent a softer, kinder note to the usual hardness of war.

Following the battle of Gettysburg nearly the whole of General R. E. Lee's Army passed through town on the retreat to the Potomac. Many interesting incidents occurred during this period, some of them touching in character.

For fifty years Fairfield has been an incorporated town, this having taken place in 1896.

Fairfield Schools
At the present time the Fairfield school system is comprised of primary grades and a grammar school.

There is considerable integration in the primary department which consists of the first four grades. Instructional material is equivalent to that of similar-sized systems. Art work is encouraged and music instruction is also a part of the curriculum.

The grammar school includes the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades. Great emphasis is being placed upon quality of work and at the same time quantity is encouraged. The very name of Grammar School implies an outmoded system but a change of organization appears in the offing.

There is a four year high school accredited by the Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction. At the present time only the academic course is in the curriculum. On different occasions some agricultural work has been given once a week being sponsored by the county office.

There is an excellent opportunity to participate in band rehearsal and play practice when instructors can be obtained. Fairfield schools have the use of the community hall which is one of the best basketball floors in Adams County.

Playgrounds are large and away from the highway. A total of six teachers are employed full time and part-time teachers are employed when available.

Residents of the community who desire the privilege of higher education for their children will find such privilege offered them by two excellent liberal arts colleges located within ten miles of Fairfield.

The hall has a well lighted auditorium which is large enough to provide a regulation basketball arena; also to seat an audience of six hundred persons. It is equipped with a stage and wings for local and imported theatrical talent. The downstairs has a dining room large enough to seat at least three hundred diners, served from a commodious and well-adapted kitchen. There are smaller rooms in the building which would lend themselves to scout rooms, conference work for smaller groups, a reading room and similar features. There are adequate toilet facilities provided also in the building.

For a nominal fee its use can be obtained for the widest possible range of activities in the community—educational, social and religious purposes.

Shoe Factory
Only within recent years has Fairfield known the satisfaction of having an industry located within its bounds, the Fairfield Shoe Factory. The present industry employs one hundred and twenty men and women, which plainly indicates a sizeable payroll which contributes greatly to the substantial income and prosperity of the community. The plant produces 1200 pairs per day of the type of shoes which are so popular with the growing girls. The output is distributed far and wide into every state of the Union through retailers and jobbers.

The plant is an outstanding example of cleanliness and fine appointments for the employees; and it is the aim of the management by good organization to provide every necessary item of equipment for the welfare of the workers and is constantly planning for increased production, and employment is scaled to the available labor field which the community is able to provide.

The First National Bank of Fairfield was chartered as a national banking institution on October 15, 1908. Originally capitalized at $25,000.00 and with relatively few local depositors, it has grown steadily with the expanding deposit

Ortanna Canning Co.
The Ortanna Canning Company, located near the North border of the Valley, was established in 1913 as one of the pioneer apple canneries in the Pennsylvania-Virginia sector.

The outlet for fruit furnished by this and other processing plants has enabled Adams County to reach a preeminent place in the nation's apple industry. The original buildings were completely destroyed by fire in 1942 and consequently replaced by a larger modern unit. In addition to apples, the plant now processes red sour cherries.

During the season of 1946, 434,000 bushels of apples were handled, at the average rate of 3500 bushels per day. The majority of these are grown in orchards in the immediate Fairfield-Ortanna-Cashtown sector of Adams County. Principal varieties used are York Imperial, Stayman Winesap, with lesser quantities of Grimes Golden, Jonathan, etc.

Production of the Ortanna Canning Company is widely distributed in every major city from the Atlantic Seaboard to Texas and the Rockies, chiefly under the brand name of Homeland. The specialty is No. 10 size cans for bakeries, restaurants and institutions, and consequently Ortanna's products are not often seen on the grocery shelves.

During the apple season approximately 240 people are employed, of which two-thirds are women. The current annual payroll brings almost $200,000 into the community.

Fairfield Churches
The history of religious activities in Fairfield and vicinity dates back to pre-Revolutionary days, when itinerant ministers first paid occasional visits to this section, sometimes to investigate what prospects could be found for effecting a congregational organization; sometimes at the earnest behest of settlers who were more eager for the preaching of the gospel among them, than for anything else.

Among the denominations represented among these eighteenth century settlers were: Presbyterians, Reformed, Lutherans, Roman Catholic, and later came Methodist families also. And much later—about the first decade of the twentieth century Methodists settled in this area in sufficient numbers to make possible the establishment of a church, and about the same time a Brethren in Christ Church was organized in this community.

The religious needs of the community are well cared for by well-maintained ecclesiastical organizations by conscientious and able ministers of the gospel and by efficient corps of leaders and teachers.

Fairfield's business establishments are up-to-date and compare most favorably with those of like character in larger towns. Four grocery stores, two of which have meat markets, one hardware, a drug store and an electrical appliance store. All stores have been enlarged and remodeled to meet the increasing demand of business, and a finer display of merchandise for the convenience of the customer, one hotel, one restaurant, a service station, two garages and shoe repair shop are located within the borough limits.

And much later—about the first decade of the twentieth century Methodists settled in this area in sufficient numbers to make possible the establishment of a church, and about the same time a Brethren in Christ Church was organized in this community.

The religious needs of the community are well cared for by well-maintained ecclesiastical organizations by conscientious and able ministers of the gospel and by efficient corps of leaders and teachers.

ASKS ECONOMIC WAR AGAINST GREAT BRITAIN

Jerusalem, Aug. 26 (AP)—Irgun Zvai Leumi, militant Jewish underground group, exhorted Jews throughout the world today to "hit Britain economically without mercy" in protest against the trans-shipment of 4,400 Jewish refugees to Germany.

In a broadcast denouncing British treatment of the refugees, who were intercepted in mid-July while trying to enter Palestine illegally aboard the Exodus of 1947, a former Chesapeake Bay steamer, Irgun declared:

"You can stop the cruel British machine forever. Do not pay your tax money, do not obey their orders. Do not obey their laws. Boycott, boycott until the end.

"Jews of the whole world can bring great harm to our enemy. Britain is in economic trouble. They can be hit economically without mercy."

"Time for War"

The Irgun broadcaster also urged Jews to ignore appeals for a hunger strike today to protest treatment accorded the refugees.

"This is no time for fasting," the broadcast said. "It is now time for war."

British sources, meanwhile, reported that Gen. Sir Alan Gordon Cunningham, high commissioner for Palestine, was weighing the possibility of leaving for Britain tomorrow to confer with the government concerning the fate of the refugees.

These sources said that Cunningham was "generally regarded as holding somewhat different views than some of his fellow officials on the situation," but did not elaborate.

The refugees in question are now en route to Hamburg aboard three British transports after spending more than three weeks anchored off Port de Bouc, France, where they refused to disembark in protest against being denied admission to Palestine.

ARGENTINA TO CHANGE POLICY

Quitandinha, Brazil, Aug. 26 (AP)—A big hurdle at the Inter-American defense conference was believed cleared today with Argentine agreement that all American nations might act to stop an attack of any one upon another.

The 20-nation conference has been sitting since Aug. 15 to draw up a treaty of mutual defense for the western hemisphere. Informed sources said last night two-thirds of the treaty had been agreed upon.

Argentina had insisted that joint sanctions—such as a breakoff of trade and diplomatic relations and military action—should be called into play only in case an American nation was attacked from outside the hemisphere.

She had argued that in event of aggression from within the hemisphere, steps to stop the aggression should be limited to consultation among the American Republics.

Last night, however, she consented to "Application of Collective Means" but "only after such steps are resolved by consultations."

Her consent was given in reply to a compromise plan proposed by Venezuela. A high conference source reported that the United States also had accepted the compromise formula and said "The problem now is adequately settled."

GIRL KEPT IN OPEN STOCKADE

Kannapolis, N. C., Aug. 26 (AP)—Townpeople sought today to force the State of North Carolina to find a place in its mental hospitals for a 14-year-old epileptic girl who has been housed for three years in an open-air stockade and cage-like room.

Police Chief I. T. Chapman said the girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Smith, told him they had tried unsuccessfully to have their daughter, Maxine, admitted to a state institution.

Dr. R. G. Blackwelder, superintendent of the state hospital for epileptics in Raleigh, said there was nothing he could do. He said Maxine is one of a hundred or so on a long waiting list and that not one more patient could be admitted until more facilities are available.

Additional buildings are under construction at the hospital and are due for completion this winter.

Chief Chapman said the stockade of wooden two-by-fours was built for the protection of the parents and the girl who alternately roams the grounds tearing bits of paper and battering her head against a wall and screaming.

Find Abandoned Boys In Church

Chicago, Aug. 26 (AP)—Three small boys, two to four years old, were found Sunday night sitting in a pew in Holy Name Cathedral, with a suitcase and a plea for help beside them.

The boys said they were Daniel, 4, Stephen, 3, and John, 2. Daniel said his father was named Frank Gillespie and his mother's name was Jerry. He told police his family came here about four months ago from San Francisco.

The note read: "To whom it may concern—please take care of our children and give them a good home. They have been living in hotels—a different one every night—or in parks for two years. We can't find a place to live with them or a place to put them temporarily. Here are some of their clothes. Please give them a chance to live right."

Police took John to St. Vincent's orphanage and sent the other two boys to the juvenile home.

Baby Is Born In Airplane Sunday

Medford, Ore., Aug. 26 (AP)—Until evidence to the contrary is forthcoming Mrs. Pauline Larson can boast of the first "air-born" child in the country.

The youngster, a 5½ pound girl, was born on Sunday to Mrs. Larson of Santa Rosa, Calif., shortly after her San Francisco-bound Southwest Airways plane had taken off from Medford.

Assisting were Olga Kempton, a passenger and undergraduate nurse at Eureka (Calif.) general hospital, and Arthur Peterson, 21, of Burlington, the craft's purser.

Peterson flashed the news of the impending arrival to Pilot Charles Kinamon 15 minutes after the take-off. Kinamon headed back to Medford, where Mrs. Larson and the baby both were taken to a hospital.

JANITOR GETS "CITATION"

Chicago, Aug. 26 (AP)—The citation presented Walter Clausius said it was for services "beyond the call of duty," such as baby-sitter, toy-fixer, dog-walker and gin rummy player.

Clausius is a janitor in a North Side apartment and the 50 tenants in the building presented him the citation at a surprise 49th birthday anniversary party Saturday night, along with 50 silver dollars, 49 cans of beer, 49 pretzels and two cakes. The extra dollar was for him "to grow on."

A special citation, "the crimson heart," was cut from a piece of red cardboard and presented by Mrs. Gilbert J. Brett who said Clausius walks her dog for her.

Other services "beyond the call of duty" the citation said, included repairing radios, clocks, household appliances and furniture for the grownups. It added that water faucets never leak or squeak at Walt's.

8 Escape When Speedboat Sinks

Erie, Pa., Aug. 26 (AP)—Eight unidentified persons, including three children, narrowly escaped death on Sunday as a speedboat sank in the Erie bay shortly after it caught fire.

Three Erie men in a 16-foot outboard motorboat raced to the scene when they saw smoke pouring from the speedboat. They dragged six of the eight persons aboard but two jumped into the water to escape the flames. Both were pulled into the outboard motorboat unharmed.

Saves Lives Of Two Boys; Robbed Of $30

Chicago, Aug. 26 (AP)—David Solomon, 34-year-old former navy Seabee, saved two youngsters from drowning but it cost him $30.

Driving near the Pershing Road beach on Sunday, Solomon heard screams for help. He stopped his car, doffed his shoes and coat, jumped into the water and rescued two 14-year-old boys whose canoe had capsized.

Solomon swam back to shore amid the applause of an admiring crowd, but then found someone had taken his wallet and $30 from his coat pocket.

"Oh well," he said, "it was worth thirty bucks to save the kids."

TROUBLE SHOOTER

BY CAMERON DOCKERY

Chapter 23

Two days passed without further excitement. The logging progressed at a steady pace under Bill Hardin's relentless prodding. It looked as though, in spite of their streak of 'Luck,' the Larsons would manage to fulfill their contract.

But Doug's mind continued to worry the problem of old Sven Larson's near brush with death as a hunger-ridden mongrel worries a bone. As Elsa had pointed out, Sven was a fighter—he would no more think of suicide as a way out than he would consider missing a daily inspection of his beloved garden.

Another solution came to him, one that he at first thrust from his mind as being as abhorrent as one of the tropic reptiles he had come upon inadvertently on the floor of a Burma jungle. Yet it was as impossible to ignore. It lay coiled in his brain demanding action until one afternoon after work he bummed a ride on the truck carrying the married men down to Quett's Inn.

After a brief talk with the lank-haired, sullen-faced Indian Joe, he began hiking up the long wooded trail that led back to camp.

As he came up to the lowhanging fir through which the telephone wire from the Larson's house ran, he stopped, examining the ground and tree trunk. Someone had paid a visit to the spot since Doug had made his Sunday inspection.

He climbed up the tree, feeling the wire with cautious fingers. The broken spot had been retaped very neatly so that the joining was barely visible from the ground. It merely confirmed what he had learned at Indian Joe's.

A quarter of a mile further on he ran into Bill Hardin.

The boss logger's face reddened belligerently. "What's the matter, Andrews, don't you want to be seen going to Larson's front door?"

"I'm heading for camp, not Larson's."

"Oh, I see—Hardin's eyes narrowed. "You only spend the week-ends with Elsa."

"Look here, Hardin," he said. "You've been riding me ever since I came here. You've put me on jobs that no experienced logging boss would assign to a greenhorn and you did it purposely. It's pretty plain you're trying to make me leave the outfit. But why? Do you think I'm after your job?"

"I think you're after my girl," Hardin snapped.

"Is Elsa your girl?" Doug asked significantly.

"She was until you came around." "I don't believe it. Anyway it's Elsa's right to choose between us. If she doesn't want me around she can say so. She hasn't so far."

A ray of sunlight hit Hardin's face and turned his eyes from obsidian to a glittering topaz. The muscles in his jaw twitched. "Damn you, Andrews! I wish I'd finished you off in Olaf's yard the other night. I have better sense when I'm drunk than when I'm sober!"

"I won't agree with you there. What about finishing that fight now?"

Surprise flashed over Hardin's face and was as quickly gone.

"This is as good a place as any."

He began removing his leather jacket. Doug did the same wondering if he had been wise to make the suggestion.

Doug braced himself. "I'm ready, Hardin."

Hardin's eyes flickered faintly.

NAVAL PLANE AGAIN BREAKS SPEED RECORD

By JAMES S. LINDSLEY

Muroc, Calif., Aug. 26 (P)—The navy was doubly sure today that it has the fastest aircraft in the world—a snarling, snorting and belching plane that spun itself a 650-mile-an-hour new international speed record in four passes over a measured three-kilometer course on this Mojave desert waste yesterday.

The blood-red Douglas jet-propelled skystreak, with a long tubular fuselage and just enough wings to keep it in the air, set the new mark with a tall marine pilot, Maj. Marion E. Carl, 31, at the controls in a tiny cockpit which didn't look large enough for a man half his size.

In so doing, the skystreak broke its own world speed record registered only last Wednesday.

Broken Last Wednesday

"There's a ship," said Major Carl, a Pacific combat veteran with 18 Japanese planes to his credit. "I don't know if we set a record or not, but men, there's a plane." This was several hours before the speed had been computed officially.

Major Carl, resident of Hubbard, Ore., and Patuxent River, Md., smashed the record set last Wednesday by a navy flier, Comdr. Turner F. Caldwell, Jr., of Arlington, Va., in the skystreak here.

It was several hours after the flight that the navy got its instruments calibrated and was able to announce the official times.

In accordance with regulations of the International Aeronautical Federation, the skystreak made four runs over the three kilometer (1.863-miles) course. The times for the four runs in miles per hour were 652.642, 649.358, 652.579 and 648.730.

One Dies, Two Hurt When Auto Upsets

Terre Haute, Ind., Aug. 26 (P)—Alvin Kagle, of Baxter Springs, had been in the back seat, got out for a little exercise.

About 30 miles south of Albany, Loomis turned to talk to his wife, discovered her missing and turned the car around.

Two hours later, after state police had been asked to intercept Loomis, he returned to the filling station. Mrs. Loomis climbed in the car and continued homeward.

Arm Paralyzed By Bolt Of Lightning

Reading, Pa., Aug. 26 (P)—A bolt of lightning caused temporary paralysis of the right arm of nine-year-old Edna Bartholomew, of Frederickville, Pa., who was struck while leading a pet goat into a stable.

Dr. Charles B. Dotterer said the bolt struck a chain by which the child was leading the goat Sunday. The arm paralysis will probably disappear within a few days, the physician said.

Kansas, was killed and two girl passengers in his car—Lucille Drott, 18, and her sister, Joan, 14—were injured when their automobile overturned near here, police reported.

Police said Kagle was driving the girls to Crucible, Pa., where they were to enter Cumberland Township high school. Their father and Kagle operate a garage at Baxter Springs.

MOVIE MAGNATE IS TOP MAN IN FANCY SALARIES

Washington, Aug. 26 (AP)—Movies and horse racing edged out motor cars today in the Treasury Department's new listing of fancy salaries.

Charles P. Skouras, moving picture theater financier, climbed into first place by drawing $563,143.60 from two corporations headed by him. This was more than twice the earnings of the best paid woman, Betty Grable, whose well-filmed curves were worth $208,000.

The list, far from a complete tabulation, was the treasury's first announcement of those whose compensation was more than $75,000 in 1945 or business fiscal years ending in 1946. Eight hundred names were shown but several big corporations had not yet reported when the tally was made public last night.

Charles H. Strub, vice president of the Los Angeles Turf Club, Inc., who ran second last year, was No. 2 again with $541,412.12, but last year's runaway leader, Paramount's Producer-Director Thomas Leo McCarey, dropped to fifth position. He made $1,113,035 in 1944, when "Going My Way" was released, and $355,426.61 on the new list.

GM Executive Sixth
Twentieth Century Fox film corporation had 42 top-bracket employees, more than any other corporation. General Motors had 33, including President Charles E. Wilson who was sixth highest paid in the country at $303,990.15. Paramount Pictures, Inc., had 31 in the $75,000-plus class.

All the figures represent salaries before the payment of taxes, which knock off 50 to 90 per cent in most cases.

Third and fourth places went to Thomas J. Watson, president of International Business Machines Corp., New York, $425,548.94, and F. E. Fowler, president, Southern Comfort Corp., St. Louis, $375,616.92.

Henry Ford II, 29-year-old president of Ford Motor Company, didn't reach the select circle of $200,000 men. His pay was $140,004.21 in 1945. General Motors, which has five executives in the more than $200,000 group, explained that the figures included bonus awards paid partly in cash and partly in stock.

Other Movie Salaries
Olivia De Havilland was No. 2 on the women's list with $206,944, and Maureen O'Hara third with $190,666.67. Barbara Stanwyck was paid $140,000 and Ginger Rogers $117,159.44.

Fred MacMurray led the male actors with $203,525.66, but he was 24th on the whole list, instead of fourth as in the 1944 ranking. Ray Milland, although his famed "Lost Weekend" didn't appear until November, 1945, was paid $185,833.33 for the year.

Charles Boyer earned $135,000, Eddie Bracken $134,042.65, Tyrone Power $110,400 and Robert Cummings $110,000.

The treasury said it would release additional lists as salary reports are received.

Wins Settlement For Loss Of Painting

Boston, Aug. 26 (AP)—Mrs. Jean Bullitt Darlington, of West Chester, Pa., has won an out-of-court settlement in her $100,000 suit against Harvard university for the loss of a painting she described as a Reubens' masterpiece "Descent from the Cross."

Court records did not reveal how much Mrs. Darlington, a first cousin of former Ambassador William Bullitt, received. She contended she spent a large amount of money in tracing the painting after it disappeared from the Harvard museum where she had sent it for appraisal. The painting was found in the possession of a carpenter who said it was given him by an art gallery in payment for a bill owed him.

Galveston Escapes Full Fury of Storm

Galveston, Tex., Aug. 26 (AP)—Galveston today resumed its role of a coastal vacation spot instead of the target of a Gulf-born tropical storm. The city girded itself Saturday against the storm which was churning its way toward the north Texas coast.

The storm moved in on the island city Sunday, but its 68- to 70-mile-an-hour winds caused no great damage.

One man was killed when he came in contact with a live wire pulled loose by the wind and three others were feared lost at sea in a snapper boat.

The storm went from here to Texas City, scene of the April 16 ship explosion disaster, then swept farther inland approximately 100 miles northwest of here where it finally petered out yesterday.

WOUNDS WIFE SUICIDES

Warren, Pa., Aug. 26 (AP)—Mrs. Harry Dilley was recovering today from several bullet wounds fired at her by her estranged husband who later took his own life, according to Coroner Ed. Lowrey. Lowrey said Dilley yesterday had telephoned his wife he was bringing the couple's pet dog to her but instead opened fire as she approached the automobile. The couple had been separated since July 2.

LEADER — Matyas Rakosi, Moscow-trained, is real boss of Hungary, although as deputy foreign minister he ostensibly is outranked by president and prime minister. He's secretary general of the Communist party, which dominates country.

Heavy Gale Stalls 2 In World Flight

New York, Aug. 26 (AP)—Two former army air forces pilots, flying around the world in two light planes, were held at Iceland today by a 40-knot gale, but reports of good weather over Scotland indicated they may be able to take off for there later today.

William Strohmeier, their flight manager, announced the weather conditions. The fliers arrived Sunday night at Meeks field, Reykjavik, Iceland, following an 804-mile hop from Greenland. Their next destination is Prestwick, Scotland.

The two men are George Truman, 39, of Los Angeles, and Clifford V. Evans, 26, of Washington, D. C. Their planes are 100-horsepower craft.

Lightning Bolt Kills Youth, 9

Bedford, Pa., Aug. 26 (AP)—Lightning which struck a maple tree under which he had taken shelter killed Albert Harr, Jr., 9, of Kimmel township, yesterday. His brother Lloyd, 7, was knocked unconscious. After he revived, Lloyd crawled 100 yards to his home and told his parents: "I believe something's wrong with Albert." The dead boy was unmarked by the bolt.

In adjoining Somerset county, fire started by lightning destroyed a barn on the Webster W. Barron farm near Listie, causing damage estimated unofficially at $4,000. The fire damaged a chicken coop, but thousands of chickens were saved.

KILLED BY TRUCK

Bedford, Pa., Aug. 26 (AP)—Russell Beamer, 68, of Bedford R. D. 1, was struck and killed by a truck yesterday. Coroner Vernon Geisel said the elderly man was apparently walking in the center of Route 31 near Manns Choice.

County Directors Must Be Good Mathematicians To Estimate State Payments

Reimbursement fraction, Equalization level and ADM are three things that have become increasingly important in an Adams county school director's life.

When a hardy farmer, masterful mechanic or busy businessman who happens to be a school director sits down on an evening and fills reams on reams of paper with what looks like a mess of fractions and decimal points, it's not a new formula for an atom bomb that he is figuring—it is simply an attempt to find out how much the state will pay to the district this year as reimbursement.

The reimbursement fraction usually is in the high 80 per cent in Adams county. Conewago Independent, for example, has a reimbursement fraction of .9012, which means that the state will pay over 90 per cent of the total cost of education.

As the reimbursement fraction is found out by dividing the equalization level into the equalization level minus the assessed valuation per district teaching unit multiplied by six mills, most boards have been content to let the state figure out the fraction.

New Rate Starts
A new set of reimbursement fractions was issued by the state today based on a six-mill instead of a five-mill local effort. What that means is that Brother Penn is putting the finger on each local taxpayer to put at least one more mill tax into the kitty for education.

It also means that the entire set up of reimbursement established earlier this year has been changed and the local districts will probably have to dig for more dough, if not this year, at least next year. With the "equalization level" also changing, taxes are sure to go higher in all but those districts that have a lot of cash in the bank.

The equalization level is the top amount the state will pay per teaching unit, which is 30 students in elementary schools, and 22 students in secondary schools. That maximum subsidy is increasing according to the increase in teachers' pay, which means that where last year the equalization level was $1,800, this year it is $2,300.

Next year the equalization level will increase by another $100—while the teachers' pay will increase by $200, leaving $100 more to be paid per unit by the local taxpayers.

ADM, or average daily membership, is the average number of pupils in school on an average day. That results in more fractions, with, for example, Abbottstown's ADM being 59.23, Arendtsville's 72.9 and the like.

How It Is Done
Now all a school director, or patron has to do to find out how much the state is going to pay the district is to divide 30 into the average daily membership in the elementary schools, which will give the number of elementary units in the district and 22 into the ADM for secondary schools which will give the number of teaching units in the high school.

After that the matter is very simple. You simply multiply the reimbursement fraction by $2,300 and then multiply that figure by the number of units, up to the fourth decimal point.

An easier way is to wait and see what the state sends.

The new reimbursement fractions and the average daily attendance figures for the various school districts include:

District	Reimbursement Fraction	Average Daily Elementary Membership	Average Daily Secondary Membership
Abbottstown	.7851	59.23

Two Junior-Senior Schools Will Open

Adams county will have two new junior high schools this year leaving only Gettysburg and York Springs without a junior high school center.

The two new schools will be Littlestown and East Berlin.

Permission to operate a junior high school was granted East Berlin earlier this year and the school has been rearranged to provide for the establishment of two high school levels, one for students in the seventh, eighth and ninth grades and the other the tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades.

Littlestown is planning to use the five rooms on the second floor of its grade school building for this year with the establishment of its junior high school. The seventh and eighth grades will be placed in the second floor rooms at the grade school and the ninth at the high school.

Margaret H. Peters, first grade.
Mrs. Marian Sloat, third grade.
Mrs. Helen M. Plank Eden, first grade (leave of absence).
